My Day

My Day is your personal daily dashboard. It contains sections that provide you with information on upcoming events and reminders as well as enrichment and entertainment.

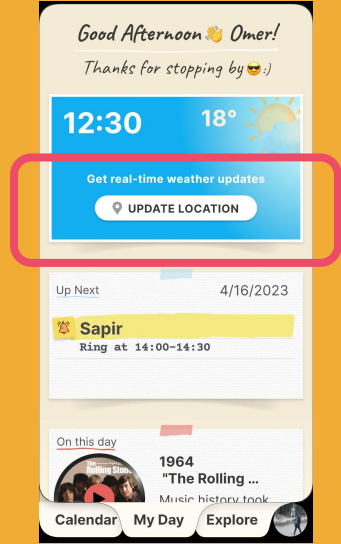

This tab has all that you need to “start the day right”. In My Day, you can see your local weather, upcoming events, nostalgic facts from the world of music that happened “on this day” complete with shareable Spotify playlists, links to daily games and more!

Weather

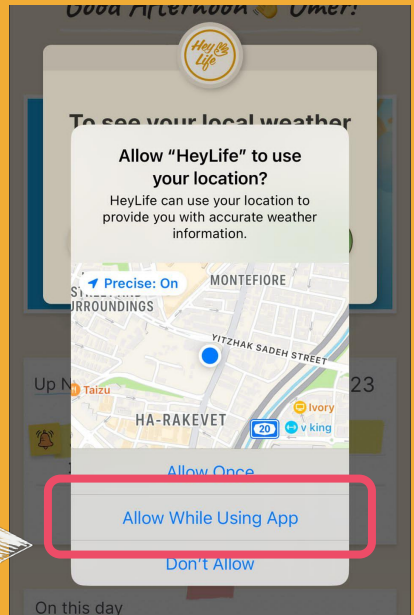

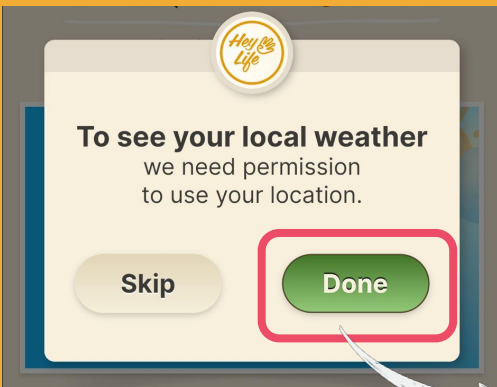

In order to see the weather in your location, you must authorize the app to access the location.

Press Update Location.

This will prompt a 2-step popup to confirm your permission to access your location (so that your app can provide you with your local weather).

- HeyLife's popup notification that we need your permission to use your location to show you your local weather.
- The permission popup. Here you'll need to confirm sharing the location by selecting Allow While Using App.

Weather

In case you choose to Skip location sharing, you will be offered to enter a city name to get local weather for a general area.

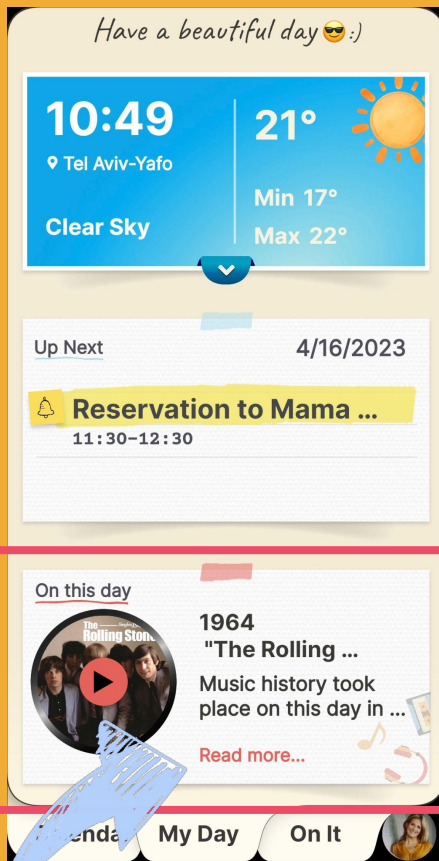

To see more / less information about your local weather, tap the arrow tab.
